MANAGER SIMMONS ANNOUNCES CARD OF 17 CONTESTS

Bates College Newcomer On 1924 Schedule Dated For May 29

MEET BOTH STATE RIVALS JUNIOR WEEK

Two Games of State Series On Home Grounds

The baseball schedule for the season of 1924 was announced by Manager Simmons this morning and will in all probability be approved at the next meeting of the Athletic Council. It consists of seventeen games, eight of which will be played on Porter Field. Two games of the state series will be played here during Junior Week, Norwich and Vermont coming on successive days. Bates College of Maine, a newcomer on the Middlebury schedule will be the attraction here on May 29. The season will probably open at home on the twenty-ninth of April with the New York State Teacher's College as the opponent. This game is still tentative. On the twenty-ninth the team will leave for a four-game trip, meeting Harvard on the thirtieth, and Worcester Tech, Boston University, and Boston College on successive days thereafter.

The state series starts the next week when Middlebury goes to Winooski on Wednesday to meet St. Michaels and returns home to play Norwich and Vermont for the Junior Week attractions. The return game with U. V. M. takes place in Burlington on the thirtieth, while St. Lawrence and Springfield will

DR. EDDY REACHES AGE OF NINETY-ONE

Old Grad of Class of 1860 Still Hale And Hearty

Dr. M. H. Eddy, class of 1860, Middlebury's oldest living graduate, will celebrate his 91st birthday anniversary at his home on Main St., Friday, Jan. 25. Dr. Eddy is still hale and hearty, and takes regular exercise by bucking up wood. When asked by a Campus reporter yesterday what the secret of long life is, he replied, "Take care of yourself!

"Dont eat more than you need and digest that by taking regular exercise. Don't be afraid of work. I began to work when I was 6 and expect to continue until I am 96. I saw wood every day, not because I have to but because I want to. I got my education by working; it is good for a man to work for his education. Be temperate. I have never used tobacco. I often see young boys using cigarettes. They do not realize how foolish it is now, but when they are older they will."

When questioned as to his health, Dr. Eddy said, "I feel just as well as I did 10 years ago, except for one knee which bothers me a little. I eat and sleep as well as ever." Dr. Eddy is one of the oldest physicians in Vermont. His son Dr. S. S. Eddy, is a well-known doctor of Middlebury. One of his grandsons, Stanton S. Eddy, Jr., is a Middlebury student in the class of 1927.

FRESHMAN QUINTET TRIM T. C. A. 31-19

Yearlings Show Consistent Improvement Under Coach Drost

Edie Drost's proteges annexed their fourth straight game of the season Saturday night when they defeated Troy Conference Academy by the score of 31-19 on the home floor. T. C. A. showed as good a brand of basketball as the Frosh have met this year. The Freshmen showed improvement over their former games, handling the ball cleaner and penetrating for more shots from under the basket. Rich proved the high scorer netting 9 baskets and 13 fouls. His points were scored chiefly by short shots.

The team started off with a rush, running into a 10-point lead. Working the ball down the field time after time with Doc Eddy and Rich doing the shooting from under the basket, the Frosh maintained their lead. However, the Academy boys put up a stiff fight and the half ended with the points 21-11. Thruout the second period the play was fast. The Freshmen held their safe lead without any great trouble. With about five minutes to play, Drost began experimenting with his guards. Lance was taken out in favor of Creaser, who soon gave way to Minor.

Eddy, altho outjumped by his opponent, played a hard game at center and scored 3 baskets. Hasseltine played a rattling game at guard. Jeffers and King for Troy Conference played stellar roles.

The score:

Midd. "27"	T. C. A.
Roberts R. F.	R. F. Jeffers
Rich L. F.	L. F. Illig
Eddy C.	C.King
Lance R. G.	R. G. Foley
Hasseltine L. G.	L. G. Wier

Goals: Roberts, Rich 9, Eddy 3, Hasseltine, Jeffers 4, Illig 3, King.

Fouls: Rich 3, Jeffers, Wier, King.

Substitutions: Middlebury, Church for Roberts, Creaser for Lance, Minor for Creaser; T. C. A., Hjerpe for Illig, Stibben for Foley.

Referee, Papke, Middlebury.

Editor's Note

There will be no issue of The Campus next week on account of examinations.

MIDDLEBURY LOSES TO NEW HAMPSHIRE AFTER HARD FIGHT

Teams Contest Score To Final Whistle in Gym Saturday

N. H. STATE 29; MIDDLEBURY 22

Rice Boys Flash In Stellar Roles

Middlebury lost one of the best games ever seen on the local court to New Hampshire, Saturday night. The final score 29-22 does not indicate the closeness of the game. At no time in the game was there a difference of over five points, and at several points Middlebury broke into the lead. In the final five minutes of play, with the teams even, the White Mountaineers put on extra steam and drew into the lead, taking the game. It was a contest that either team might be proud to win, so evenly were they matched.

The Varsity showed great improvement over the Norwich game. Better teamwork, passing and general offense marked their play. At last it seemed as if the men had hit their stride. Coach Perkins, though failing to beat his Alma Mater, has at last hit upon a workable combination.

The game started with New Hampshire taking the lead by virtue of two free throws. Neither team was able to score freely from the floor but both made their free throws count. Late in the half New Hampshire drew away to the extent of five points but a field goal by Lambe from the center of the floor and a foul ended the half with the invaders leading 12-10.

Hardly had the second half started when Rice, who played one of the best games of the evening, was removed for four personals. Coach Perkins here showed a fine piece of strategy by putting in the other Rice, a change which did not change the teamwork. Starting with a rush the Varsity tied the score

MAY HAVE CHAPTER OF KAPPA PHI KAPPA

Group of Students Organize To Promote Educational Fraternity

A local fraternity of students interested in pedagogy and of professors of the Department off Pedagogy is in process of organization. The movement was started last spring by Professor Stevens of Dartmouth and formerly of Middlebury, who made a special trip here for the purpose. The group is organizing with the intent of subsequently petitioning the national educational fraternity known as Kappa Phi Kappa for a charter.

Professor Frank Howard, of the Department of Pedagogy, has lately interested a few members of the Junior Class who are majoring in pedagogy in this movement. At the first meeting, F. Beacom Rich was chosen chairman. An organization committee composed of Ralph De Groff '25, John J. Leary '25, and Fred Herzig '25 was appointed.

The general purpose of Kappa Phi Kappa is to unite teachers and educators and all whose interests are connected with education in a group, chiefly for social benefit.

Middlebury Accepts Winning Plan Of Bok Contest By Vote Of 407-20

Correct Misapprehension

A member of the faculty takes the Campus gently to task for its announcement of last week to the effect that exams would be "three hours in length." He does so saying that such a statement causes a misapprehension, as it is not the intent of the faculty to give exams which should last three hours, but to allow that time for the benefit of the few who do not feel confident that they can do a good piece of work in a two-hour period.

ENGINEER GIVES ILLUSTRATED TALK

Shows Movie of Big Power Project In Sierra Nevadas

"Nature's Frozen Credits," a moving picture which showed in a graphic way the great problems of modern engineering and the methods of meeting them was presented in the Grange Hall Wednesday afternoon, January 16 by Mr. Albert A. Northup of the construction firm of Stone and Webster, Inc. under the auspices of the Vocational Guidance Lecture Course.

The picture traced the development of a huge power project in the Sierra Nevada mountains from the time the survey was begun until the big electric generators were set in motion in the power house.

"Nature's Frozen Credits" showed the vast stores of latent energy which, in the form of the eternal snow fields, are present in the western mountains, and incidentally gave views of surpassing beauty showing the wild and rugged mountain scenery in all the glory of its natural coloring.

During the presentation of the film,

Forum Asks Students To Choose Own Topics

The problem of how to insure international peace, the League of Nations, and the winning plan of the Bok Peace Contest, were the subjects discussed at the Forum Sunday evening in Hepburn Social Hall, under the leadership of Professor J. S. Kingsley. The sessions of the Forum have become more interesting and more generally attended since the recently awakened interest among Middlebury students in the problem of keeping peace between nations.

There will be no meeting of the Forum next Sunday evening on account of examinations. The following Sunday, however, Feb. 3, there will be a meeting at the usual time and place. At this meeting a new departure will be tried in determining the subjects of discussion. Each person is asked to bring in some question, on any subject whatever, which he or she would like to have discussed. These questions may be taken from any source, whether reading, conversation, or experience, as long as they are of universal interest to the group. In this way it is hoped that the questions which students want most to discuss and to hear discussed will be brought up.

Official Ballot Taken In Chapel Saturday Under Direction of Political Science Class

The Middlebury student body voted overwhelmingly in favor of Plan No. 1469, which won the Edward W. Bok $100,000 Peace Prize, last Saturday morning. The official ballot was taken at morning chapel and resulted in a 407-20 vote in favor of the Plan.

After a few remarks by Prof. Charles F. Abbott, who had already expressed himself in favor of the Peace Plan in a short address Friday morning, the official ballots were distributed by members of one of Prof. Abbott's classes, and were filled out and collected immediately. The ballots were counted under the personal direction of Dean E. J. Wiley, and were then mailed to the headquarters of the American Peace Foundation, in order that they might be included in the results of the national referendum.

FACULTY OFFERS CHOICE ELECTIVES

New Courses Will Be Given In Five Departments

Several new courses are to be offered next semester it was announced today by Professor Frank Howard, chairman of the Faculty Committee on Curriculum.

To the department of American Literature Prof. Davison has added "Recent American Poetry," a course with American Literature 1-2 as a prerequisite. It is open to Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors.

Professor House will teach two new courses in Economics, "Economic Cycles and Crises" and "Rural Sociology." These are both C courses and are open to Juniors and Seniors. The prerequisite for the former is Economics 1-2. For the latter, Economics 1-2 and 21, 23, or permission, are necessary.

The English department has been enlarged by the addition of two C courses, both of which have a prerequisite of any four courses. One, "Milton," to be taught by Miss Studley, is open to Juniors and Seniors. Mr. Perkins will offer "Poetics," a course also open to Juniors and Seniors.

A one-hour course in German Phonetics open to all classes with German 1-2 as a prerequisite will be given by Fraulein Schuller at an hour to be arranged later. Professor Skillings offers "Goethe's Faust in English," a C course with no prerequisite, open to Sophomores and Juniors.

Professor White will give a course in Ancient History. This is a B course in Ancient History. This is a B course with no prerequisite, open to Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors However, it is not a new course but one which was not given last year because of Professor White's absence.

Reads From Frost

Professor W. E. Davison read from the poems of Robert Frost at the meeting of the English Club, Thursday evenig. Several new members were elected to the Club at this meeting.

Do You Know The Profs?

It is our opinion that a small college should give the advantages peculiar to small colleges. Middlebury furnishes many of those advantages, such as comparative freedom from outside diversions, relatively small classes, dormitory life, and a fairly unified student body. It is of no small value moreover to be able to call practically every student one meets on the campus by his or her first name, or nickname, perfection which of course no one quite attains but which is more nearly possible at Middlebury than at—shall we say Columbia? Intimacy between students of different natural groups, is much to be desired. Another intimacy, however, we should like to feel existed to a greater extent than at present, and that is intimacy between students and professors.

Much friction is caused by misunderstanding. In any relationship two parties may have both desire and ability to cooperate, but unless they understand one another, they are sure to disagree. Either would probably act much as the other is acting if their places were reversed, but not knowing one another's motives, they become alienated. What is the origin of dislike and strife, but misunderstanding? Close acquaintance removes misunderstanding between student and instructor and invariably increases mutual sympathy and respect.

Why, then, should there be a gap between student and instructor? Is the instructor, or professor, so much further advanced intellectually, so much more learned, that his sense of superiority forbids him to associate with his students except in the classroom? Or does his greater learning impose a natural barrier between him and the student? These answers fit only in particular cases. Students and faculty are separated because there is nothing to bring them together. They naturally draw apart, and adhering to those of their respective ages, form two distinct social groups. To become a college professor, it appears that much study is necessary, and much study not only is "a weariness of the flesh" but tends to become a barrier to companionships. But students and instructors are not really so far apart as it might appear. Students are soon instructing and instructors are always studying. Their interests demand that they know one another personally and intimately. The classroom lecture system, it is true, does not foster a close contact of student with instructor. This fact will contribute to the eventual substitution of a tutorial and student research system for the lecture system in American colleges. Meanwhile we favor any tendancy toward student-faculty friendship outside the classroom. The student can do much to increase such acquaintance, but by necessity the instructor must meet him more than half-way. The work of each can be made more effective and more agreeable when each understands the problems and difficulties of the other.

Happy the man who does not have to cram for exams!

Student Referendums

We are told from the pulpit, by the press, and thru many other agencies, that the College students of the present will shortly be the rulers of the future; that our great statesmen, lawyers, politicians, preachers, are now in the making and will soon conduct the affairs of the world. Be that as it may, the sad fact faces us that there are in College, many men and women who are completing their courses very poorly prepared to conduct the affairs of the nation. They may be excellent students, active in College life, and vividly interested in the doings of their own College. But their knowledge of what the state or nation is doing is very small. Had these students not come to college, they might have been taking an active interest in comunity affairs. Since they have come —hoping to make the world richer and better ultimately —does it necessarily follow that they should shun momentous questions until after graduation?

When the College balloted upon the Bok Peace Plan, it took a decided step forward. Are we, however, going to stop there? Many questions arise from time to time which demand for solution the consensus of opinion of the American people. The Volstead Act is one of these questions and some colleges have already taken a referendum upon it. If all the colleges of the country did so, would not the effect of the vote be felt? Would the students not be more apt to live up to a law in which they had registered belief?

If this idea of the referendum for students is feasible, the action which began with the voting on the Peace Plan might well be continued. Let us have unprejudiced, informative talks upon the subjects of the hour, as were given on the Bok Peace Plan. And let our ballots show to the country that Middlebury students at least are not dead to the questions of the hour.

Suggestions for Our New Motion Picture Palace

When one of the town's richest inhabitants—we mention no names in order that there may be no feelings hurt, decides that from the earnings gleaned from the students of the college he will build a new theatre, which will even rival those on the Keith circuit and which will have all the latest innovations, including a regular nine piece orchestra, we should like to offer the following suggestions. Don't mention it; we always like to do little things like that for humanity!

1. The abolition of those abominable drinking cup machines in the smoking room, which are the cause of hundreds dying of thirst every evening because they don't happen to have a penny in change.

2. Some sort of safety appliance which will keep the person in front of you from squeezing your toe when he pushes the seat down. Also some arrangement to prevent the person behind you from sticking his foot thru the back of your seat.

3. More space between the rows so that two people can walk abreast on the way in or out without stepping on the bunions and corns of the patrons who remain seated.

4. Windshields to prevent one catching cold from the draft created by the man behind who keeps his lower jaw dropped answering the plaintive query: "What does that say, Papa?"

5. Special seating arrangement for those who come late

6. A system whereby if a person talks too much his seat collapses and he is carried out on a moving belt.

7. Improvement upon the hat-receptacle under the seats so that one may discover that one side of the wire is broken before his hat rolls under the seat and one's foot rests comfortably upon it.

8. Some sort of tray on the back of each seat so that the lady may deposit her vanity case in it and save the escort the trouble of scrambling around under the seat in an undignified fashion looking for it.

9. Place a wire net in front of the balcony so that in the midst of a thrilling scene those who are moved may not inadvertently knock a few hats and coats off the railing and bury some unsuspecting old gentleman down in the orchestra.

10. Paint the floor with radium paint so that one can easily find his way down the aisle and not bruise his knees in the dark.

ALUMNI COLUMN

The Alumni Office has recently received a copy of a very tastefully edited Church Annual, in magazine form, issued by the Community Church of East Quogue, Long Island, of which Vinton W. Mitchell, Middlebury, '17 is pastor. Mr. Mitchell has been connected with the East Quogue church since 1922, having previously served pastorates at Charlotte, Vt., and Bayport and East Hampton on Long Island.

A letter recently received from the mother of Gladys Thompson, '23 says in part: "It might be of interest to some to know that Gladys Thompson is enjoying her work as English teacher in the Instituto Colon, Guadaljara, Jalisco, Mexico. She has mastered the Spanish language—at least she can read, write and understand it, but her failure to sound her "r's" gives her Spanish teacher as much trouble as it ever did her French House friends. Since the Revolution she has received no mail from the U. S. and can only send letters by a chance auto crossing the border. She writes that she passed a very pleasant Christmas season, tho never receiving a single card, letter or package from the home land. The new green leaves are coming out, her Christmas cake was decorated with fresh strawberries and surrounded with roses from the garden which is filled with them, also with calla lilies, poinsettas, etc. She has learned to eat squash cooked in brown sugar, pancakes with nothing in them to make them rise, many strange fruits and vegetables. When the bridges are rebuilt and R. R. tracks again laid she will welcome messages from Middlebury."

With the recent death of Rev. John Cadman Labaree at West Medway, Mass., the last member of the class of 1856 passes. An unusual interest was attached to Mr. Labaree because he was the son of former President Benjamin Labaree, who was at the head of Middlebury College from 1840 to 1866 and who will be remembered by a few of the older alumni.

Mr. Labaree attended Andover Theological Seminary after his graduation from Middlebury and served as an active minister for fifty years after his ordination. He had the remarkable record of spending this long period in only four parishes. Sterling, Mass. 1861-65; Randolph, 1865-93; Saugus, 1903-06; and South Dennis, 1906-11. At his resignation in 1911 he moved to West Medway, taking up his residence with his only son, John R. Labaree, until his death in his eighty-ninth year.

His was a long and honorable career, and his interest in the work of the church and community, as well as the college that he loved, continued keen to the very end of his life. He was greatly interested in the Alumni Association and a generous contributor to the recent endowment fund.

It is interesting to notice the foreign countries represented in payments which come in from Middlebury alumni on pledges made to the Million Dollar Fund. Last week, in the same mail, came a First of Exchange for $100 from Japan, and a one pound note from Central Africa. The former was in the form of a certificate and on reading it one would gather that the sender was furnished with two of these a First of Exchange and a Second of Exchange, the Second to be used only when the First fails to reach its destination. The pound note was, no doubt, identical with an English bill for the same amount, excepting that it was on a bank of Central Africa.

Miss Ethelinda Tucker, '23, who is teaching at Brigham Academy, Bakersfield, Vt. was visiting friends on the hill over the week-end.

The University of Pennsylvania crew will open its season with a race with Yale on May 3.

COMMUNICATION

Bliss '23 Calls Attention Of Students To French And German Requirements Of Graduate Schools

To the Campus:

I wish to call the attention of the student body and particularly of any students intending to do graduate work, to the desirability of acquiring a college record in the two modern languages, French and German. Most of the universities of the country require a knowledge of these two languages for the advanced degrees, and a reading knowledge of these languages is useful if not absolutely necessary in any line of advanced study, in view of the fact that much of the reference literature is available only in the original French or German.

My own experience may be of interest in this connection. Last spring in my correspondence with the Secretary of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, I found that two years of high school French did not go very far toward satisfying the modern language requirements of Harvard University. Again, last fall, while filling out my registration papers, I heard the Secretary of the Graduate School tell one man after another, that the modern language requirements would have to be satisfied before they could hope to get a degree from Harvard. The deficiency was usually German, and Spanish is not accepted in place of either of the other two languages.

If, then, any students at Middlebury are intending to do graduate work, it would be advisable for them to remedy any deficiencies in modern languages while they are still in college.

January 31 To Be Middlebury Night At Copley Theatre, Boston

The Copley Theatre, Boston, is reserving a block of seats exclusively for Middlebury Alumni for Thursday evening, Jan.31. This will give alumni in and around Boston a chance to see a good play and to meet their friends A share of the proceeds from the sale of the tickets will be refunded to the Alumni Association. Each alumnus is allowed three non-alumni guests.

The tickets are sold at a reduced price. Reservations should be made immediately of Leon F. Jackson, 66 Brook St., Wollaston, Mass.

De Visme Gaining Slowly

The condition of Professor de Visme, who has been seriously ill for the past ten days, improves slowly. He is still reported very weak and unable to exert himself to any extent.

Have the University authorities decided at last to shorten Freshman daily chapel? It almost seems so, for yesterday morning the service consisted only of a hymn on account of the lack of a leader.—Yale News.

MUST LEARN TO WAIT, SAYS MOODY

Defeat Our Own Ends In Hurrying Eagerness

"And therefore will Jehovah wait, that he may be gracious unto you; and therefore will he be exalted, that he may have mercy upon you: for Jehovah is a God of justice: blessed are all they that wait for him.'

"We will find," said President Moody at the Vespers Service Sunday, "that our happiness depends upon our waiting for God. In our eagerness to take things before they are ready, we defeat our own ends and jostle the elbow of God, as it were. It is hard to learn to wait. We do no other thing so much or so poorly. It is equally difficult to wait when the objective is both certain and uncertain; but if we could train ourselves to be good waiters, we would find that the waiting would not seem so hard.

"'And therefore will Jehovah wait'—in this Isiah expressed a two-fold idea: the idea of God's waiting for us, and of our waiting for Him. In our hours of trial and disappointment, if we but make our way into His presence, we will find the peace and strength and power that are ours when we wait for Him."

MERRILL CONTEST SCHEDULED FEB. 6

Speakers Trained In 1-Hour Course By Professor Davison

The Merrill Speaking Contest for the Class of 1926 will be held in the Mead Memorial Chapel on Wednesday evening February 6, at eight o'clock.

The eight sophomores who will compete for the usual prizes of $50, $35, $25, and $20 have been drilled during the entire semester in a one hour course in speaking which is conducted by Professor Davison. All the speeches are original and were written especially for this contest. The time limit has been reduced this year so that each speaker will have but seven minutes instead of twelve.

Under the direction of the music department, a special musical program has been arranged. Beside several numbers by members of the department, the Men's Glee Club will sing, under the leadership of Allen Hunter.

The titles of the speeches are as follows:

BLUE FIVE LOSES TO WILLIAMS 35-22

Varsity Guards Unable To Hold Fast Purple Center

Middlebury met defeat at the hands of the Williams quintet Wednesday night, Jan. 16, at Williamstown by a 35-22 score. Observers called the game one of the fastest ever seen at Williams. Fisher, opposing center, ran wild shooting 11 field goals and 7 fouls. Fish, handicapped by an injured ankle and by the size of his opponent, was unable to hold him.

Coach Perkins started the game with a new combination which worked well together. Williams ran into a lead at the start which the Blue was at no time able to break. Altho the team was unable to hold Fisher who penetrated time after time for short shots from under the basket, in general it played a good defensive game. The Williams forwards scored only one basket between them.

Lambe scored high for the Blue, sinking 4 baskets and a foul. Hollquist and Rice played their usual consistent game.

The score:

Williams. (35)	Middlebury. (22)
H. Brown R. F.	L. F. Lambe
A. Brown L. F.	R. F. Knowles
Fisher C.	C. Fish
Jayne R. G.	R. G. Rice, R.
Cook L. G.	L. G. Hollquist

Goals: for Middlebury, Lambe 4, Fish 2, R. Rice, Hollquist 2; for Williams, Smith, Fisher 11, Cook 2.

Fouls: Middlebury, Lambe, Knowles 2, Fish, Hollquist 2; Williams, Bogart 1, Fisher 7, Jayne.

Substitutions: Middlebury, Reigleman for Fish, Klevenow for Hollquist; Williams, Smith for H. Brown, Reed for A. Brown, Bogart for Reed, Pease for Cook.

Referee: Young.

Ross G. Frounick, who served as instructor in the Latin department last year in the absence of Professor White, is teaching this year in the University of Maryland.

Class Schedules Out Today

Schedules of courses to be given the second semester may be obtained today at the gymnasium or at the office of the Registrar. Students are asked to register their elections of courses at the Registrar's office before Friday night of this week.

Student Government Holds Informal

About 50 couples attended the informal dance held Saturday evening under the auspices of Student Government in the McCullough Gymnsium. $250
In Prizes for the Prize Cap

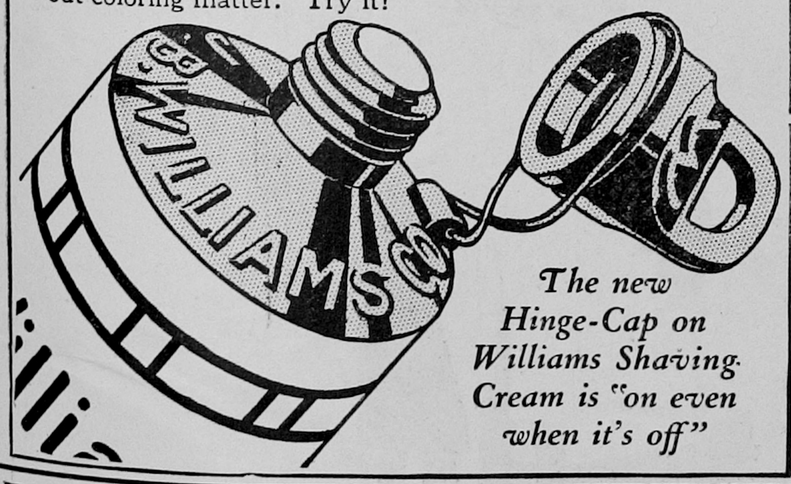
For the best sentence of ten words or less on the value of the Williams Hinge-Cap, we offer the following prizes: 1st prize, $100; 2nd prize, $50; two 3rd prizes, $25 each; two 4th prizes, $10 each; six 5th prizes, $5 each. Any undergraduate or graduate student is eligible. If two or more persons submit identical slogans deemed worthy of prizes, the full amount of the prize will be awarded to each. Contest closes at midnight March 14, 1924. Winners will be announced as soon thereafter as possible. Submit any number of slogans but write on one side of paper only, putting name, address, college and class at top of each sheet. Address letters to Contest Editor, The J. B. Williams Co., Glastonbury, Conn.

Williams is as much better to shave with as the Hinge-Cap is better than other caps: The lather is heavier and holds the moisture in against your beard. Quicker softening results. Also, Williams lather lubricates the skin. There is noticeable absence of irritating razor friction. And Williams takes good care of the skin. Though you shave daily, your face remains smooth and feels comfortable. Williams is a pure, natural-white cream absolutely without coloring matter. Try it!



The new Hinge-Cap on Williams Shaving Cream is "on even when it's off" for the first time in the game at 13-13. However, this proved a hoodoo for Middlebury, as she soon fell behind again. Playing hard, they soon closed in again and a basket from the floor by Lambe put the home team in the lead by the narrow margin of one point. With but five minutes to go, New Hampshire rapidly caged several baskets giving her a large enough lead to win the game.

Middlebury Loses To N. H. State 29-22

For the Varsity Lambe was high scorer with 4 baskets and 20 fouls. Both Rices played well both on the defense and offence. Fish handicapped by a bad ankle from the Williams game was unable to do justice to himself. Holquist and Knowles fitted well into the five game. For New Hampshire, Metcalf and McKinley were the stars.

The score:

New Hampshire (29)	Middlebury (22)
Roy R. F	R. F. Knowles
Metcalf L. F.	L. F. Lambe
McKinley C.	C. Fish
Micora R. G.	R. G. Holquist
Davis L. G.	L. G. Rice, R.

Goals: Cilton, Metcalf 4, McKinley 2, Micora 1, Taylor 1, Davis, Lambe 4, R. Rice, W. Rice.

Fouls: Roy 2, Cilton, Metcalf, McKinley 3, Mecora 1, Lambe 2, Fish 2, Holquist 5, R. Rice.

Substitutions: New Hampshire, Cilton for Roy, Taylor for Mecora; Middlebury, W. Rice for R. Rice.

Referee, O'Brien of Holy Cross.

Philians To Give Informal

There will be a general informal dance in the Gym Saturday evening, February 2 from 7.00 to 11.00 P. M., under the auspices of the Philian society. There will be one or two cut-in dances in each group. Hunter's orchestra will play. Light refreshments will be served during intermission.

Librarian Reads "Enslaved"

Miss Laila McNeil, librarian, read the poem "Enslaved", by John Masefield, at Starr Library Saturday afternoon.

These readings have become regular weekly affairs and are a source of much pleasure and profit to many students.

Vermont Establishes New English Prize

(From the New York Times)

A new prize of $250, to be known as the English Prize and awarded for high distinction in English studies, is announced by the Department of English at the University of Vermont, and will be awarded for the first time in the Spring of 1925. Presentation will be made on Founders' Day, at which time the successful candidate will receive not only the money prize but also a certificate inscribed and signed by the President of the university and the Chairman of the English Department. It is also provided that the recipient of this prize shall be graduated with highest honors in English and that if he enrolls the ensuing college year in the University of Vermont for graduate work in English, he shall receive a research fellowship.

This new prize will be awarded to members in full regular standing in the senior class each year, and the manner of its award is calculated to carry out the purpose for which it was established, to "raise the standard of classroom exercises and stimulate a more lively interest in the study of English generally."

Merrill Contest Is Scheduled For Feb. 6

INTERCOLLIGIATE

Bowdoin: Bowdoin has adopted the one semester rule in regard to freshmen playing on varsity teams. This is in all important respects the same as the one year rule of the colleges only for a shorter time.

Princeton: Coach Roper of the University football team has resigned, the resignation to take place at the end of the 1924 season.

Columbia: The faculty of Columbia have entirely abolished examinations. Grading hereafter is to be done entirely from themes and recitations.

come to Middlebury on the next two days. In a two day trip the next week, New York State Teacher's College will be met on their home grounds at Albany and Union at Schenectady.

Bates College will appear here on the twenty-ninth. The usual Decoration Day game with Norwich will be played at Northfield this year. St. Michaels will play here on the seventh of June.

Manager Simmons is making an effort to arrange a game to be played here on the fourteenth of June which will be during Commencement Wek. This game will take the place of the traditional Alumni game which is usually played at that time.
